Introduction

Introduction

In Saskatchewan, there are electoral boundaries designed for three levels of government: federal, provincial and municipal.

Elections Saskatchewan (referred to in legislation as “The Office of the Chief Electoral Officer”) is the province’s independent, impartial election management body. With a legal mandate established by the Legislative Assembly of Saskatchewan, it plans, organizes, conducts and reports on provincial electoral events.

While Elections Saskatchewan is not responsible for federal and municipal electoral events, it seeks to collaborate and work closely with the bodies responsible for conducting those events. The publication of this directory is part of this effort.

This directory is intended as a reference guide for all Saskatchewan urban municipalities and their respective provincial constituencies and federal electoral districts.

This directory was last updated in 2011. The print version will be updated again in 2017 following Saskatchewan’s 28th General Election. Updates to the version found on the Elections Saskatchewan website will be made on an ongoing basis.

Definition of an urban municipality

In the Saskatchewan Ministry of Government Relations guide, Comparison of Formal Entities in the Municipal Government System, it states, “Urban municipalities, by definition, include cities, towns, villages and resort villages.

Saskatchewan’s cities are governed by The Cities Act, while the remaining urban municipalities are governed by The Municipalities Act. A municipality is created by a ministerial order that describes its boundaries.”

New Provincial Constituencies

Statistics Canada compiles a census of population in each province. The most recent census was done in 2011. In Saskatchewan, a Constituency Boundaries Commission is established in accordance with The Constituency Boundaries Act, 1993, following each census taken every tenth year after 1991. Accordingly, a boundary review for Saskatchewan was conducted in 2012.

The Saskatchewan Provincial Constituency Boundaries Commission tabled its final report in October 2012. The Legislative Assembly of Saskatchewan passed Bill 79 (The Representation Act, 2012) into law on May 15, 2013.

The 61 redefined constituencies come into effect at the time of the next provincial election, scheduled for either November 2, 2015 or April 4, 2016.

New Federal Electoral Districts

The Constitution of Canada requires that federal electoral districts be reviewed after each 10-year census to reflect changes and movements in Canada’s population. The federal redistribution process began in February 2012.

A representation order describing and naming Canada’s future electoral districts was completed in October 2013. The new federal electoral districts will be applied in the first general election called after May 1, 2014.
